Keep your CDJs safe with new Decksaver range
Covers and faceplates for new Pioneer decks

Leeds, UK - February 5th 2010 - building on the worldwide success of the original Decksaver Pioneer covers range, Decksaver are pleased to announce a range of covers for the new Pioneer CDJ-2000 and CDJ-900 digital media decks.

The club environment can be harsh, with smoke, dust and sticky liquids being daily hazards for DJs and club owners to keep in check. And Decksavers are specifically designed to keep your technology investment safe and sound.

As well as having Decksavers for the new Pioneer range, a new faceplate product has been designed. Sitting firmly on top of the CDJ-2000, the faceplate has been designed to keep the new shiny CDJ pristine for a lot longer. Made from super clear material, the faceplate is laser cut to ensure the finest tolerances are achieved, the best fit maintained and the finish is of the highest quality that has become a trademark of Decksavers.

"The club standard deck needed the club standard protection" says Mustafa El-Etriby from The Vacform Group. "As soon as we saw the new CDJs, we realised that they needed not only a Decksaver, but also something to keep them in great shape for even longer".

The new Decksavers for the Pioneer CDJ-2000 and 900 will be available in Germany from 22nd February and will retail for €56.00 and €49.00 respectively. The CDJ-2000 faceplate will ship packaged with the cover. For more information, please contact Hans Söllner at info@recordcase.de
